

Global Nutrition Report Stakeholder Group meeting: 21 June 2018

Review and Discussion of 2018 GNR content and direction

IEG co- chairs and co-authors of the Global Nutrition Report presented the wireframe of the report for 2018. This year's theme is on accelerating action on nutrition. The SG members had the opportunity to ask questions about the various chapters. The co-chairs also presented the new IEG and the review process. This year the report will be reviewed by three independent experts.

Review and discussion of theory of change and three-year strategy

Development Initiatives' Executive Director Harpinder Collacott presented the Global Nutrition Report's three-year strategy. A three-year theory of change was also presented which included objectives, ultimate goals and outcomes. the Stakeholder Group provided feedback on these documents, which Development Initiatives will take on board to help finalise the strategy and theory of change.

2018 GNR communications and dissemination strategy

An overview was given on the user research, its key findings and how we will respond to user research findings. SG members highlighted the need to get more input from country level on how they currently use GNR or want to use GNR and what they need for the future. The SG encouraged DI to undertake more research to really make the GNR relevant to all stakeholders.

A timeline for the 2018 launch was presented, which included how we will communicate with our stakeholders and key audiences and how we can reach different geographies at the global, regional and national level.

Alongside the global launch event in Bangkok (IFPRI/ FAO Summit) there will be a global media launch event. The GNR will be launched in November 2018 and events and engagement will continue until March 2019 to keep the momentum going and ensure a full programme of engagement at country level. SG members highlighted key events that the GNR could link with.

Evaluating the role, structure and function of the SG

The SG co-chairs discussed expectations of the SG members and a way forward on the structure of the SG. There were no objections to the objectives of the Stakeholder Group. The co-chairs will finalise the terms of reference and make these available.

Membership commitments to support 2018 GNR

Many SG members made commitments to support the launch of the 2018 GNR through the course of the meeting. This included:

- Outreach and events support at local, regional and global level
- Funding support
- Support in disseminating the report and championing it

Recap and next steps

The next conversation with the SG will be a call in September, which will focus on what support we want from the SG and possibly start to think about the 2019 report. The co-chairs also highlighted key draft reviews dates over August.
